

This letter discusses nexus. See Quill Corp. v. North Dakota, 112 S.Ct. 1904 (1992). (This is a GIL.)

June 26, 2007

Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated October 18, 2006, in which you request information. We apologize for the delay in responding to your inquiry. The Department issues two types of letter rulings. Private Letter Rulings ("PLRs") are issued by the Department in response to specific taxpayer inquiries concerning the application of a tax statute or rule to a particular fact situation. A PLR is binding on the Department, but only as to the taxpayer who is the subject of the request for ruling and only to the extent the facts recited in the PLR are correct and complete. Persons seeking PLRs must comply with the procedures for PLRs found in the Department's regulations at 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.110. The purpose of a General Information Letter ("GIL") is to direct taxpayers to Department regulations or other sources of information regarding the topic about which they have inquired. A GIL is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120. You may access our website at www.ILTAX.com to review regulations, letter rulings and other types of information relevant to your inquiry.

The nature of your inquiry and the information you have provided require that we respond with a GIL. In your letter you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

We are a new company that sells and installs graphics, which are displayed on the trailers of semi and box trucks. Sales are the result of trade shows, referrals, and advertising response, either through phone or e-mail orders.

Our company is based solely in STATE. We do not have offices located in other states, and the salespeople on our payroll work solely out of the STATE office.

We have installers that are independent contractors and travel from state to state to install the graphics. We occasionally use an installer located in the city and/or state where the job is being done and are charged sales tax, if applicable, on their labor.

We ship the graphics via UPS or other common carrier, and occasionally hand deliver them. The actual delivery charges are reflected on a separate line item on our invoices.

Are we responsible for the collection and disbursement of sales tax to your state on the sale of our product? Please provide us with a documented ruling, and if so, a state sales tax application so we can properly collect and disburse the sales tax if applicable.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration regarding this matter.

DEPARTMENT'S RESPONSE:

Nexus

The Department declines to make nexus determinations in the context of Private Letter Rulings or General Information Letters because the amount of information required to make those determinations is often best gathered by an auditor. The following information outlines the principles of nexus. We hope it is helpful to you in determining your company's tax obligations.

An "Illinois Retailer" is one who either accepts purchase orders in the State of Illinois or maintains an inventory in Illinois and fills Illinois orders from that inventory. The Illinois Retailer is then liable for Retailers' Occupation Tax on gross receipts from sales and must collect the corresponding Use Tax incurred by the purchasers.

Another type of retailer is the retailer maintaining a place of business in Illinois. The definition of a "retailer maintaining a place of business in Illinois" is described in 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.201(i). This type of retailer is required to register with the State as an Illinois Use Tax collector. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.801. The retailer must collect and remit Use Tax to the State on behalf of the retailer's Illinois customers even though the retailer does not incur any Retailers' Occupation Tax liability.

The United States Supreme Court in Quill Corp. v. North Dakota, 112 S.Ct. 1904 (1992), set forth the current guidelines for determining what nexus requirements must be met before a person is properly subject to a state's tax laws. The Supreme Court has set out a 2-prong test for nexus. The first prong is whether the Due Process Clause is satisfied. Due process will be satisfied if the person or entity purposely avails itself or himself of the benefits of an economic market in a forum state. Quill at 1910. The second prong of the Supreme Court's nexus test requires that, if due process requirements have been satisfied, the person or entity must have physical presence in the forum state to satisfy the Commerce Clause. A physical presence is not limited to an office or other physical building. Under Illinois law, it also includes the presence of any agent or representative of the seller. The representative need not be a sales representative. Any type of physical presence in the State of Illinois, including the vendor's delivery and installation of his product on a repetitive basis, will trigger Use Tax collection responsibilities. Please see Brown's Furniture, Inc. v. Wagner, 171 Ill.2d 410, (1996).

The final type of retailer is the out-of-State retailer that does not have sufficient nexus with Illinois to be required to submit to Illinois tax laws. A retailer in this situation does not incur Retailers' Occupation Tax on sales into Illinois and is not required to collect Use Tax on behalf of its Illinois customers. However, the retailer's Illinois customers will still incur Use Tax liability on the purchase of the goods and have a duty to self-assess and remit their Use Tax liability directly to the State. In such instances, those customers must remit their Illinois Use Tax along with a completed Form ST-44, Illinois Use Tax Return unless they are otherwise registered or are required to be registered with the Department and remit their Illinois Use Tax with a Form ST-1, Illinois Sales and Use Tax Return. Many retailers that do not have nexus with the State have chosen to voluntarily register as Use Tax collectors as a courtesy to their Illinois customers so that those customers are not required to file returns concerning the transactions with those retailers.

Delivery charges

For information regarding the Department's regulation on the treatment of transportation and delivery charges under the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act, please see 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.415. Transportation and delivery charges, also designated as shipping and handling charges, are not taxable if it can be shown that the charges are agreed to separately from the selling price of the tangible personal property sold and the charges are actually reflective of the costs of shipping. To the extent the transportation and delivery charges exceed the costs of shipping, the charges will be subject to tax.

As noted in subsection (d) of Section 130.415, if the seller and the buyer agree upon the transportation or delivery charges separately from the selling price of the tangible personal property which is sold, then the cost of the transportation or delivery service is not a part of the "selling price" of the tangible personal property which is sold, but instead is a service charge, separately contracted for, and need not be included in the figure upon which the seller computes his Retailers' Occupation Tax liability.

The best evidence that transportation or delivery charges were agreed to separately and apart from the selling price is a separate and distinct contract for transportation or delivery. However, documentation which demonstrates that the purchaser had the option of taking delivery of the property, at the seller's location, for the agreed purchase price, or having delivery made by the seller for the agreed purchase price, plus an ascertained or ascertainable delivery charge, will suffice.

Special order printing

It may be possible that your company is involved in a special-order printing situation. Please see 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.2000, which is the regulation for "Persons Engaged in the Printing, Graphic Arts or Related Occupations, and Their Suppliers." As a general rule, when products are items of general utility and serve substantially the same function as stock or standard items, the products will be subject to the Retailers' Occupation Tax when sold. Items which serve substantially the same function are those which, when produced on special order, could be sold as produced to someone other than the original purchaser at substantially the same price. Items that would not be considered stock or standard items and would not be sold to someone other than the purchaser for substantially the same price would not be subject to the Retailers' Occupation Tax when sold, but would generally be subject to Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability as described below.

Illinois Retailers' Occupation and Use Taxes do not apply to sales of service that do not involve the transfer of tangible personal property to customers. However, if tangible personal property is transferred incident to sales of service, this will result in either Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability for the servicemen depending upon his activities. For your general information see of 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.101 through 140.109 regarding sales of service and Service Occupation Tax.

Under the Service Occupation Tax Act, businesses providing services (i.e. servicemen) are taxed on tangible personal property transferred as an incident to sales of service. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.101. The purchase of tangible personal property that is transferred to the service customer may result in either Service Occupation Tax liability or Use Tax liability for the servicemen depending upon his activities. The serviceman's liability may be calculated in one of four ways: (1) separately stated selling price of tangible personal property transferred incident to service; (2) 50% of the servicemen's entire bill; (3) Service Occupation Tax on the servicemen's cost price if the servicemen are registered de minimis servicemen; or (4) Use Tax on the servicemen's cost price if the servicemen are de minimis and are not otherwise required to be registered under Section 2a of the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act. Normally, most printers handle their liabilities under one of the de minimis methods.

Using the first method, servicemen may separately state the selling price of each item transferred as a result of the sale of service. The tax is then calculated on the separately stated selling price of the tangible personal property transferred. If the servicemen do not separately state the selling price of the tangible personal property transferred, they must use 50% of the entire bill to the service customer as the tax base. Both of the above methods provide that in no event may the tax base be less than the servicemen's cost price of the tangible personal property transferred. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.106.

The third way servicemen may account for their tax liability only applies to de minimis servicemen who have either chosen to be registered or are required to be registered because they incur Retailers' Occupation Tax liability with respect to a portion of their business. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.109. Servicemen may qualify as de minimis if they determine that the annual aggregate cost price of tangible personal property transferred as an incident of the sale of service is less than 35% of the total annual gross receipts from service transactions (75% in the case of pharmacists and persons engaged in graphics arts production). Servicemen no longer have the option of determining whether they are de minimis using a transaction by transaction basis. Registered de minimis servicemen are authorized to pay Service Occupation Tax (which includes local taxes) based upon their cost price of tangible personal property transferred incident to the sale of service. Such servicemen should give suppliers resale certificates and remit Service Occupation Tax using the Service Occupation Tax rates for their locations. Such servicemen also collect a corresponding amount of Service Use Tax from their customers, absent an exemption.

The final method of determining tax liability may be used by de minimis servicemen that are not otherwise required to be registered under Section 2a of the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act. Such de minimis servicemen handle their tax liability by paying Use Tax to their suppliers. If their suppliers are not registered to collect and remit tax, the servicemen must register, self-assess and remit Use Tax to the Department. The servicemen are considered to be the end-users of the tangible personal property transferred incident to service. Consequently, they are not authorized to collect a "tax" from the service customers. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.108.

Generally, servicemen, not engaged in this State in the business of making sales of service, incur no Service Occupation Tax liability. However, the servicemen's customers may incur a Service Use Tax liability on the tangible personal property that is received in Illinois as an incident to purchases of service. For further information on the tax liabilities of printers, please see our previous letter rulings on the Department's internet website under the heading of "Laws/Regs/Rulings."

I hope this information is helpful. If you require additional information, please visit our website at www.ILTAX.com or contact the Department's Taxpayer Information Division at (217) 782-3336. If you are not under audit and you wish to obtain a binding PLR regarding your factual situation, please submit a request conforming to the requirements of 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.110 (b).

Very truly yours,
